Mayor D. Blair Camp
Murray City
5025 S. State St.
Murray, UT 84107

Dear Mayor Camp,

Each year, the Administrative Office of the Courts is required to provide a salary range for justice court judges to each local government with a justice court. Section 78A-7-206 of the Utah Code allows each city or county to set the salary of its full-time justice court judge(s) between 50% and 90% of the annual salary of a district court judge. Effective July 1, 2018, the annual salary of a district court judge is $166,300. As such, statute requires the salary of a full-time justice court judge to be between $83,150 and $149,670.

In addition to the foregoing parameters, please consider the following when determining the actual salary of your judge.

- The range merely provides baseline salary parameters for your judge. Salaries should reflect the experience, tenure as a judge and the vast array of services he or she provides to the community.
- Statute requires that each judge receive an annual salary adjustment at least equal to the average adjustment for all county or municipal employees in the jurisdiction served by that judge.
- Despite fluctuations in workload, the Utah State Constitution does not permit a judge's salary to be reduced during his or her terms in office.
- Those employed as a justice court judge by more than one jurisdiction may not receive a combined salary for services as a judge that exceeds $166,300.

In addition to providing salary ranges each year for justice court judges, the Administrative Office of the Courts is required to review the annual compensation of each justice court judge. Pursuant to Section 78A-7-207(3) of the Utah Code please provide documentation in the form of a resolution or correspondence on official letterhead which establishes the current salary of the judge in your justice court, together with the amount he or she will be making as of July 1, 2018. Please note that complying with this statute is a prerequisite for ongoing certification.

This salary information should be emailed to Melisse Stiglich at melisses@utcourts.gov no later than Friday, May 11, 2018. If you have any questions regarding the calculation of the judicial workload, the determination of the judge's salary or the annual review of salary data, please contact Ms. Stiglich at (801) 578-3844. Thank you for your cooperation.

Sincerely,

Richard H. Schwermer
State Court Administrator

Discussion Items

1. Judge Paul Thompson Salary Discussion – Mike Terry, Human Resources (HR)

Mr. Terry shared background information about special rules the city must follow regarding a possible salary increase for Judge Thompson. Utah State Code requirement details were reviewed, and a comparative list was noted that depicted what other cities pay their judges, based on case filing statistics. Comparison information was attained from the Administrative Office of the Courts (AOC). Most agencies staff one judge, however, Salt Lake City employs five judges, and West Valley has two.

Case filings are broken into three categories: criminal, civil and traffic. Most traffic cases are resolved through fines; therefore, judges are not involved in those cases. Salary information was provided from HR departments throughout the county, including large cities, like Provo, Orem, Davis and Utah County.

Judge Thompson reviewed the following information:

- According to state law, a city council or governing body is required to review a judge's salary annually, which had not been done in Murray.
- Comparably, most judges work part-time.
- Most judges are provided a car and gas allowance.
- The Murray court offers education and treatment programs other courts do not offer after formal sentencing and review hearings occur, to monitor the compliance of sentence requirements for things like: DUI, domestic violence, and community service.
- As a result, the recidivism rate in Murray is about half the state average.
- Because of education and treatment programs, the judge works more hours than part-time judges. For example, Mondays, domestic violence cases are handled; Tuesdays, hearing reviews; and Thursday final sentencing occurs. He said the number of cases a court receives, does not accurately indicate the number of hours spent with people to hold them accountable for wrong doing.
- By law, when a person is booked into jail, a judge must carefully review whether the arrest was lawful - within 24 hours of the arrest – so working after hours is required regularly for handling probable cause statements.

A mention was made about the South Jordan City judge, who was at the maximum pay level at the time of his recent retirement.

Ms. Turner shared seven options to help the council reach a consensus in addressing the recommendation:

- Judge Thompson is currently earning $124,051, which is within Utah State Code stipulated range of 50%-90% of a district court judges' annual salary. The council does have the flexibility to increase the current compensation.

- State Code allows a justice court judge to receive an annual salary adjustment at least equal to the average salary adjustment for all municipal employees for the jurisdictions served by the judge.
 - The council could wait until the end of the fiscal year, June 2019, and at that time, the average salary adjustment for all employees could be applied to his salary.
 - A 12-step plan is in place with scheduled increases at 2.5% or 5% per year.
- The council could decide no increase be given.
- The council could decide a hybrid of the above options. For example, provide a $1,000 increase now and wait to get the average increase, as determined at the end of June, and award any additional increase at that time.
- Take more time to consider the options and continue with a decision in a future meeting.

Mr. Williams noted if salary reviews were based on the number of monthly case filings, one filing did not convey the amount of time spent resolving one case file.

According to the city's new payroll step-plan, many city employees received increases based on tenure. Mr. Williams said calculating the judge's salary according to those measures, Judge Thompson would be at step-12 and should be earning $132,000 per year. However, the only increase the judge received was the cost of living adjustment (COLA).

Mr. Hales wondered when the judge last received a review and an increase. Ms. Lopez stated 2014. Mr. Williams confirmed no merit increases were given. Mr. Terry said over past years, the same COLA increase given to all department head personnel, was also given to the judge.

Mr. Williams noted any salary increase would most likely put him over-budget. He asked the council to please consider a corresponding transfer to the budget because it was already tight, due to ongoing building repairs.

Mr. Brass agreed the first step was to meet with Finance Director, Danyce Steck to review the possibility for an increase and suggested waiting until the mid-year budget meeting in January. This would give the council time to make the best decision related to allocation of funding. Mr. Hales agreed.

Ms. Lopez confirmed a budget opening would be necessary. Mr. Nicponski agreed after a second review the best decision could be made. Mr. Terry noted since the recommendation was not made last spring, when the process for salary increases usually takes place, it could be included in the new budget.

Ms. Turner confirmed the option for waiting until the end of June when the discussion could continue, and new budgets could be realized.

Mr. Terry agreed it was difficult to compare state mandates for judges, with employees on the city's new payroll step-plan.

Mr. Brass said anytime pay is increased, the salary should be funded forever to include benefits as well, through the budget process.

There was consensus to wait on a decision until further budget information was attained.

2. Power Department Report – Blaine Haacke and Greg Bellon

Mr. Bellon reported on the following:

• Personnel

An employee was promoted from the forestry department to fill the position of a retired employee. The arborist position was filled, and two new apprentice linemen were hired. A total of four positions were filled.

• Public Power Open House

The annual event was successful with roughly 500-600 people in attendance. Demonstrations are available via live-stream.

Mr. Haacke provided information on the following topics:

• Gas Turbines

The city's three gas turbines produce 13,000 kilowatts of power and were installed on 4800 South and 300 West in 2002. Prior to their installation in 2001, the city spent $2 million in the month of August, due to inflation. Mr. Brass confirmed after installation, turbines kept the city from paying high-end market pricing, which in the end, pays for themselves nicely.

Mr. Haacke agreed gas turbines still operate that way on a smaller scale, depending on market pricing for natural gas. Turbines are used frequently during summer high=peak hours. Ultimately, the $20 million plant will prove its great value if the western grid is ever lost by providing energy during rolling blackouts to portions of the city.

Data regarding hours of operation and megawatt usage was noted that reflected a significant increase this year, compared to 2017, due to low natural gas prices. Gas prices are closely monitored each morning by staff throughout summer months to attain the best purchase price. In summary, if market prices for natural gas exceed $50 per megawatt, gas turbines are utilized instead. Mr. Haacke explained using turbines frequently keeps efficiency levels up also, rather than having them sit idle.

Due to increased usage, turbines produced a surplus of power, so UAMPS paid the city $313,686 to utilize the extra energy. In addition, by not purchasing from the market, the city saved $201,473. Combined savings this summer totaled $515,159 because of the resource.
