

One spooky night a man entered a movie theater and then the popcorn machine exploded! It was haunted but the man did not know. Then a spooky movie appeared on the screen out of nowhere. He heard a noise, it was a scream! He looked left then he looked right and behind him and nobody was there. It was a ghost! When he tried getting out, the door closed. Now he was stuck. Then he remembered that he had a phone but it was broken! He screamed and someone outside of the theater heard him and called 911. Then they got him out of the haunted theater. The end
