

On a Halloween Night

By: Rebecca Brown

I take my seat,
The lights dim down.
I heard this was the scariest
Theater in town.

An actor strolls on stage,
I shiver in fright.
This play is called
On a Halloween Night.

Thrills and terror!
Lightning and Thunder!
How long did it take to
Create this, I wonder.

I scream, I jump!
I am so scared.
The details of this,
I do not care to share.

Intermission comes,

The lights turn on.

I am surprised,

This play is so long.

I grab some popcorn,

Some candy and sit down.

The curtains open,

To a scene in the town.

I laugh and I scream,

My popcorn goes flying.

When I says I was not scared,

I am lying.

The lights brighten up,

The actors bow.

I stand up and stretch,

I think, "Oh wow."

"That play was amazing!"

Later that night I said.

My sister agrees,

Then we hop into bed.

The play was scary,

But also fun.

Happy Halloween,

To everyone!!
